Re: Go Chain Wax

As a formwork company that specializes in the supply and erection of formwork for concrete slabs, it is of utmost importance that the materials we use are always in good working order. We started to use Go Chain Wax a couple of months ago on the thread of the formwork props, and were very impressed that the thread was now nicely lubricated and almost dust free. Turning the nut - even with load on the prop - was effortless with the lubrication applied.

I have also experimented using diluted Go Chain Wax as Shutter release oil, and was amazed to see how Go Chain Wax protected the peri boards against concrete damage. Cleaning the boards afterwards was very easy.
